GOING TO THE FAIR.

(CLIPPED)

With a pocket full of money

And a grip sack full of clothes,

And with a kodak loaded

For most anything that shows,

And with enthusiasm

That is away beyond compare,

I'm going to Chicago

To be "in it" at the fair.

I'll gaze on greater wonders

Than were ever dreamt before,

The world in past and present

I'm going to explore.

And all its rarest treasures

Will appear before my eyes,

Which were, I wish, as many

As are given to the flies.

Among the strangest people

In their native streets I'll go—

Among dwarfs from darkest Africa,

And the frozen Esquimaux;

Like in the ancient fairy tales

I shall visit every land

From Greenland's icy mountains

To India's coral strand.

I'll gain so much of knowledge

That forever I will be

A bright encyclopedia

In high society.

And folks will crowd around me

When there's silver in my hair

To listen to the story

Of Chicago and her fair.

What care I for the trouble

Or discomfort or expense

When fifty million dollars worth

I'll see for fifty cents—

To miss that biggest thing on earth

Would be a fastening crime;

I am going to Chicago

If it takes my bottom dime.

The railroad trains are crowded

And the ocean ships are crammed;

The highways are with carriages

And bicycles all jammed.

The lakes, canals and rivers

Have't any room to spare—

For all the world is going

To Chicago and the fair.

At least a million pocketbooks

Brimmed full of ready cash,

Two million Saratoga trunks

For baggage men to smash,

And countless bulging gripsacks

Packed with the greatest care

Are going to Chicago

To boom along the fair.

Ho-o-ray, then, for Columbus!

Three tigers for the fair!

I'm going to Chicago

If I must use Shank's mare;

I'll feast my eyes on wonders,

With knowledge fill my brain,

And promptly I'll tell the story

When I am home again.

A WILD BOY.

Young Californian eats Grass

Fifteen Years of age and Knows Nothing at All—Is Often Tied to a

Snake in the Cattle Pasture,

Where, With a Rope

Around His Ankle,

He Goes Away

And clover.

[SATURDAY'S BLADE.]

The town of Livermore, California, has a wild boy that eats grass and lives on herbs and roots and does all sorts of strange things.

For years this wild boy has lived in his father's pasture and has been as contented as any ordinary mortal would be in a well furnished home.

The unfortunate lad has a name and a home, but he does not regard either as much as any rational being would.

He prefers to frisk around in his father's grain fields and chase the trighten children of the neighborhood down the country roads.

John Worth is the wild boy's name and he is about fifteen years old. His father is Harrison Worth, who lives on a little tract of land a few miles out from Livermore. The boy has been a terror to the neighbors for a long time. Ever since his birth he has been an amebic, and all attempts to teach him even the rudiments of understanding have been but dismal failures.

The wild boy knows absolutely nothing, and is as much at home out in the open fields as he is at his father's fireside. Recently he has been terrorizing the neighbors of the Worth tract to such an extent that he was arrested on complaint of Farmer

Clark, who considers him too dangerous to be at large. His sanity was investigated by the lunacy commission, but the doctors decided that the green fields and the hills that surround Livermore were better places for him than an insane asylum would be, so he was sent home on the afternoon train in custody of his father, who promised to take better care of allowed him to grow up in the green fields with the live stock. By reason of his peculiarities the boy has been called the wild boy of Livermore for the last ten years, and the little children have the most abject fear of him. When loose he will climb fences and chase them down the road, but he never has been known to harm any of them. When he catches them he looks them over seriously and seems to regard them with simple interest.

July Forecasts.

[REV. H. HICKS IN WORLD AND WORKS.]

Pleasant summer days, for the most part, will prevail at the opening of July. The full moon and the center of a mercury equinox falling together on the 26th, may prolong cloudiness with storms in extreme east into July, but westerly and central regions will have change to fair to cooler with rising barometer. By the 4th, a warm wave will be well defined on the western side of the country—the barometer will be falling in the same region, and the storms will start toward the East. From the 4th to the 7th, all the phenomena of a regular storm

period may be expected at all points, as they march in regular order from east to west.

Fair weather to the East, growing warm with winds from the east to south, during the early part of the storm periods are as much parts of the phenomena of a period as the actual storms of rising wind and thunder.

The change to cooler westerly winds, with barometer rising in regions west of storm areas, are also physical necessities, falling in and bringing up the rear the moment the storm area passes east of any given point.

The first is the highlight showing that the train is coming; the last the red light hanging to the rear coach, showing that the train has passed.

If these changes to cooler westerly winds, with barometer beginning to rise, do not follow storms;

if warm winds hold and barometer stands or falls lower, another section of the storm train is sure to follow within a few hours. The 10th and 11th are reactionary days, at which time it will grow very warm, and active storms do not appear,

the warmth will increase past the new moon on the 30th, and culminate in heavy storms on and about the 16th, which is the central day of the next storm period. If the new moon on the 13th leans in its perturbing effect toward the storm period of the 15th to 18th, storms will appear early in the period, checking the growing heat and bringing temporarily more pleasant weather. That certain moon-phases exert disturbing influences of a meteorological character, is a fact beyond successful contradiction, and that these disturbing influences are retarded or hastened

so as to blend with the nearest storm periods, is also a fact.

If the new moon on the 13th tends her influence to reactionary disturbances, central on 10th and 11th, a crisis of heat and storm will be reached about those days, if she reaches forward to the storm period of the 15th to the 18th, heat and storm will come to a crisis early in that period. We expect the latter. Let us watch and see. Thus we learn.

About the 22d, 23d growing warmth with all the changes that precede and attend a return to storminess, will appear. These disturbances, also, will

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE

C. SLADE TAYLOR
Of the Cromwell Precinct, as a candidate for State Senator from the 8th Senatorial District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

TO THE VOTERS OF OHIO, MULLENBERG AND BUTLER COUNTIES—I am a candidate for Senator in the District composed of your counties. Being a Republican, I will submit my claims to the Convention of that party. Soliciting the support of all Republicans in the Convention, I am,

Yours truly,
E. D. GUFFY.
Hartford, Ky., June 29, 1893.

The papers contain the usual accounts of accidents resulting from unwise use of fire-works on the Fourth.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has called an extra session of Congress, but the question is: "What will he do with it after he gets it?"

On the Fourth a big mine explosion occurred at Thornhill in Yorkshire, England, killing about one hundred and fifty men.

The biggest Fourth of July celebration ever held was that at the World's Fair Grounds Tuesday, when two hundred and fifty thousand people took part.

SINCE Cleveland came into power, American values have suffered a shrinkage amounting to $1,000,000,000. Rather a little experience for those who wished for a change.

EVERY merchant, hotel and livery stable did a thriving business Tuesday, notwithstanding the argument to the contrary many tried to make when the subscription paper was being circulated.

The recent incompetent Legislature gave the school interests of the State a severe blow when it reduced the minimum allowance on the County Superintendent's salary on each pupil in the county from ten to eight cents. County Superintendents are already very poorly paid and to make it possible for their salaries to be still further reduced is a disgrace to the Commonwealth.

The fight for the nomination for State Senator between Messrs. E. D. Guffy, D. F. Tracy and C. S. Taylor is on in earnest and a whipping finish is expected. The Republican proposes to keep hands off and "let 'em fix it," till the nomination is made and then join in for the triumphant election of the Republican nominee. The Republican feels that its duty is to fight Democrats and not Republicans.

ANOTHER motion was made in the County Court Monday, asking for an order of election to determine whether or not the people of Rockport School District will vote a tax to sustain a Graded School. It will be remembered that a vote was taken on the first Saturday in June, which resulted in a tie. The people have found out their mistake and the chances are very favorable for a victory for the school interest.

The knowing ones say that there are from Hancock county alone one hundred and sixty applicants for places under Collector Powers. So far Ohio county has only about seventeen, as follows: A. Lee Rowe, L. Reid, Sanford Fulkerson, Oglesby, J. B. Wilson, L. P. Loney, Wm. Lyons, T. J. Smith, A. C. Ellis, Ben Kelley, Ed. Field, George Milligan, F. M. Petty, S. S. May, D. M. Morton, Perry Cargill and Wm. Leach. In all, at least four applicants for each place.

The recent accident in which Mr. Jeff Bell, a good citizen, came near losing his life, calls once more the public notice to the condition of our bridges, a thing the REPUBLICAN has often done before. Had the bridge, off which Mr. Bell's horse leaped, had guard rails the accident in all probability would have been avoided. But guard rails is not all that is lacking. Several of the bridges and culverts north of town are in miserably dangerous condition. Some of them have great yawning holes in them, others have slipped and the abutments given almost away, sills rotten and floors slipped aside. These things should be corrected at once. The road to Beaver Dam as regards bridges is, if possible, in still worse condition. The little culvert just beyond the Riley tobacco warehouse, within the corporate limits, has been broken down so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. The planks just lie on the ground like they would in the bottom of a trough. The Collins bridge over Muddy Creek has in the last four weeks sunk several inches at the farther end and is now ready to fall into the creek. The culverts along the levee are extremely dangerous and demand immediate attention.

At Bardwell, Ky., Wednesday two young girls, aged twelve and sixteen, while out picking blackberries, were caught, raped and murdered in the most fiendish manner. Three negroes accused of the crime have been arrested.

APPLICANTS for certificates of eligibility as candidates for the office of County Superintendent will be required to pass examination on the last Saturday in this month. The questions to be furnished by the State Board and the examination conducted by the County Judge, County Attorney and a competent person selected by them. A fee of $2.00 will be charged. The State Board of Examiners will hold an examination on the same day, using same questions as those sent to the Boards in the various counties.

The County Superintendent is to be elected on November 7, 1893, to take his seat the second Monday in August, 1894. This will shorten the term of the present incumbent about two weeks. The two parties will at once cast about for candidates. Many have expected Mr. L. P. Loney to be a candidate but he says he will not be, besides he has a good showing for a place under Powers in the Revenue Service. Mr. G. T. Tinsley, of Centertown, is spoken of as a Democratic candidate. Prof. W. L. Hawkins will also place his claims before the Democracy for their consideration. Other Democratic aspirants are apt to bob up serenely in the next few weeks, and the Democracy will have a lively time in choosing their candidate. As a Republican candidate, we suggest Miss Dora E. Gibson as one eminently qualified for the place both from native ability and wide experience in school affairs. Her name would enthrone the Republicans of the county as no other name could do.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Carlisle has had no less than three extended conferences with Mr. Cleveland, in the privacy of the latter's suburban residence, since the news was received of the practical demonization of silver by the government of India, which has for some years been the largest purchaser of silver in the world, not even excepting the United States under the Sherman law. A person acquainted with Democratic ideas of what constitutes statesmanship might suppose that these conferences, some of which lasted until long after midnight, were devoted to a study of ways and means to save the United States from the ill affect of India's new policy, which many fear may result in large demands upon the Treasury gold reserve fund, as hundreds of telegrams have been received from bankers and business men imploring the Administration to take some immediate steps towards relief. Not so, however. These momentous conferences between the President and the chief financial official of the Government were entirely given up determining who should be appointed collectors of internal revenue in a number of districts where the removal of the Republican Collectors had been determined upon. Every school boy is familiar with the picture of Nero fiddling while Rome burned. Future generations of school boys may see a picture of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury haggling over the appointment of a few collectors of internal revenue while a nation clamors for financial relief and a restoration of public confidence, and clamored in vain.

Nothing may be expected from the Administration in the shape of relief. It has deliberately thrown the whole business over to Congress and continues to devote its entire time to settling squabbles among Democrats as to who shall get the little offices. Secretary Carlisle when asked what he intended doing said there was nothing to add to the policy of the Administration already announced, which means that Mr. Cleveland's do nothing program will be continued until changed by Congress.

A member of the cabinet let the cat out of the bag as to why Mr. Cleveland continues to turn a deaf ear to the numerous appeals for an immediate extra session of Congress that are being made to him, by saying in a general way: "If the President were convinced that Congress would immediately after assembling repeal the Sherman law that body might be convened before September."

Ever since the establishment of the present form of government for the District of Columbia it has been regarded, as it was intended to be, as being strictly nonpartisan in its make-up, and for many years the loudest shouters in favor of keeping politics out of the Democratic. But a radical change has taken place in their views and the local Democrat, assisted by several Maryland and Virginia Congressmen are nagging at Mr. Cleveland in order to get him to direct the dismissal of Republicans and the appointment of Democrats in their places, and in order to get him personally interested they have produced files of a paper edited by one of the clerks in which the usual campaign attacks upon the opposing candidate were made upon Mr. Cleveland in '84, '88 and '93, none of them half so cutting as those made upon him by Democratic editors whom he has since rewarded with offices. The unjustice of these Democrats is made all the more apparent by a table prepared some time ago, it is said at Mr. Cleveland's request, which shows that of the 252 offices under the District government above the grade of laborers 134 are already held by Democrats. The trouble with the Democrats is that they always want to get the best of the bargain. When there is a Republican Administration they always want things run on the non-partisan order, but now they want everything in sight. Fair play they know not of.

An interesting bit of gossip is floating around Washington in connection with the refusal of ex-Speaker Crisp to speak at Tammany's at the 4th of July pow-wow, on the grounds that his wife is ill. While Mrs. Crisp's health is bad it is said that the reason why Mr. Crisp did not care to speak in New York was a superstitious dread, caused by the trouble which has invariably followed his speaking in that town. While he was making his first speech in New York after his election as speaker he received a telegram stating that one of his sons was dying and he died before he reached his bedside. Upon the second occasion he received telegraphic notice of the fatal illness of another son, and the last time he went there to speak he was snubbed at the memorable Reform Banquet and not allowed to deliver the speech he had prepared. It is also probable that a desire to postpone committing himself on the silver question until after his re-election as Speaker had something to do with his refusal.

Adjourned.

[TUESDAY'S COMMERCIAL.]
The Legislature has adjourned. Everybody will celebrate the Fourth of July more joyously on that account and yet the Legislature was not such a bad body after all. It had imposed on it a task of unusual magnitude, calculated to demand the exercise of the first order of ability. Its trouble seems to us to have been in the fact that it had so many members of good ability and so few of dominating and exceptional ability. The good features of the new Constitution which led us to support it will become manifest after the laws enacted by the present Legislature have had a trial. The people of Kentucky will pay a little attention to their own affairs, and the Constitution can be amended in particulars wherein it proves to be defective. The Commercial supported the new Constitution because it could be amended, and it is in favor of its amendment in several important particulars.

FOR 30 DAYS
We will offer you special inducements in Champion Mowers front and rear cut, John Dodds Hayrake with steel and wooden wheels, Parry Buggies and Spring Wagons and Olds Road Wagons. We get all these goods in car lots and can positively save you money on these. Our Buggies are moving to our entire satisfaction, and this is our second car-load of road wagons. World's Fair Philanthropists.

[ST. PAUL DAILY NEWS.]

Messrs. Boddie Bros., wealthy Chicago gentlemen, having the interest of the city at heart, and desiring to disprove the falsity of the statement that only in boarding houses can be found moderate priced accommodations during the World's Fair, remodeled and furnished at great expense one of their famous absolutely fireproof business structures, located corner of Franklin and Jackson streets, within short walking distance of the Union Depots, Theatres, Postoffice, Board of Trade, Steam, Elevated, Cable Roads and Steamboats to the World's Fair, furnished newly throughout with 500 rooms, superb parlors, elevators, electric lights, exhaust fans to keep cool entire building, named this property The Great Western Hotel, and invite the public to take their choice of rooms for $1.00 per day, children 50 cents. Elegant restaurant and dining rooms where fine meals are served at 50 cents, or a la carte at very moderate prices.

There should be less heard or known of extortion and imposition connected with the World's Fair were there more public spirited, fair minded men in Chicago as are the owners and proprietors of The Great Western Hotel. Our readers should write as soon as possible to secure rooms, for they are being taken up rapidly.

An eight-year-old boy of George Peters, Beaver Dam, while acting the squirrel last Sunday fell from a tree in his father's yard, striking a paling fence and being badly hurt.

THE REUNION.

A Beautiful Day, a Large Crowd and a Pleasant Time.

Hooray and Hurrah, the Glorious Fourth was grand! Tuesday morning dawned, a day of unsurpassed beauty as if born in the fulness of time as Nature's free offering to the pleasure of the old soldiers. At about 7:30 o'clock a continuous stream of humanity began pouring through the streets for the Fair Grounds. People by scores and hundreds came from every neighborhood and all of the surrounding counties were well represented. The youth and the maid, the aged couple that had seen the storm of many winters, the young man in his strength, the young woman in her beauty; the rich and the poor, the veterans and children in almost an endless throng surged through the street for full three hours. Every conceivable conveyance to which the principle of locomotion could be applied was to be seen. The fine carriage of the rich old farmer, the 'buses of our liveriesmen, the buggies, with and without tops, road wagons and carts. The forms of equine and bovine animation were multifarious. The proud high-headed steed, the worn-out mule, the fiery liverly horse, the steady farm horse and the slow but sure old ox, all were there.

About 9:30 the old soldiers who had gathered at the Court House marched to the Fair Grounds to the time of martial music. The old time fire and enthusiasm were kindled, the eyes deep sunk and dim kindled and glowed, the Old Flag received many a loving look, the steps made slow since the sixties by the encroachment of Father Time received new firmness and elasticity, and thus with bands playing, banners flying, and hearts beating with patriotic emotions, the grand old patriots marched gladly on. The business houses were all or nearly all properly decorated with the National colors and the scene to the thoughtful observer was most impressive. Animated as were the faces, quick as were the feet, one could not fail to see a trace of sadness. Thoughts were wandering to other days when they had marched to battle on the field where many comrades fell. It was for these a thought was harbored, some who before had seen Reunions and had marched with them only last year at Cromwell had answered the great roll call beyond and all were too well aware that they themselves must soon bivouac on the great field beyond the river.

On and on swept the column into the beautiful Grounds, where, back of the Amphitheatre, a speakers' stand had been erected and beautifully decorated. Capt. E. F. Kinnaird, of Rochester, called the vast assemblage to order and Rev. J. A. Bennett led in prayer.

In the forenoon speeches were made by Dr. J. E. Pendleton, Major Kinnaird, Gen. E. H. Hobson, and afternoon by Col. J. S. R. Wedding, Col. S. P. Love and Col. I. B. Nall. All were appropriate, patriotic and full of kindly feeling for both the Blue and the Gray. A big public dinner was served and the great crowd was treated bountifully. Many citizens of the town and surrounding county brought dinner and invited many friends to enjoy their hospitality.

The business of the Veterans' Association was conducted with despatch. Capt. S. K. Cox was chosen President; Roland Hackett and J. M. Bishop, Vice-Presidents; Jo A. Bennett, Chaplain, and Col. I. B. Nall, Secretary.

The Reunion next year will be held at Rochester. At about 4 o'clock the crowd began to leave and by 5:30 o'clock the grounds were almost wholly vacated. Hartford has done well and our people will wish for another opportunity to entertain the old soldiers and their friends.

NOTES.

The crowd waited anxiously for the Bicycle Race that didn't come. Everybody enjoyed the running they did see, however, and it is regretted that a sure enough race could not be arranged as expected. When the boys would stop they would at once be surrounded by a curious throng, gazing intently at the interesting vehicles, many persons never having before seen a bicycle.

Speaking of bicycles, though, the funniest thing that occurred was the expert (?) riding exhibition given by Lawyer Hayward. Mr. Hayward never had ridden a wheel and in order to enliven the crowd a little, he concluded, despite the fun that would be created at his expense, to make his maiden effort as a wheelman right in front of the Amphitheatre where fully three thousand of the country's beauty and chivalry could see. It was a lively ride. The mount was made and here and there wobble-de-wobble in and out and around and about ran that aggravating wheel describing rainbows and zig-zag lightning finally making a slashing finish in the ditch just below the Amphitheatre landing the young attorney ankle deep in the mud and water. Mr. Hayward went in to amuse the crowd and succeeded admirably and nobody enjoyed the fun more than he.

The entire police regulations were left to Messrs. Ansel Wilson, W. H. Mauzy and Evan Cornelius, who looked after their work in the most satisfactory manner.

The very best of order prevailed throughout the day, only a young man getting somewhat boisterous because he couldn't get a glass of lemonade quite as quickly as he wished. Considering the number in attendance better conduct could not be asked. Very few drunken men were on the ground and those who had partaken

FOURTH OF JULY.

On and after the above day we inaugurated a CLEARING-OUT SALE of CLOTHING for the season and for 30 days we will positively give clearing-out prices, which means GOOD, FASHIONABLE SUITS at prices so greatly reduced that anybody can tell just what he is doing. This does not mean a lot of CHEAP JOHN shoddy stuff, but we have a limited number of fine suits that WILL GO. Also a few cheap suits out of line at purchaser's own prices. We mean just what we say, and all we ask is that you call and look through.

COME AT ONCE.

Respectfully,

HOCKER & CO.

rather freely were in the best of humor.

The Committee on Arrangements did splendid work. The dinner was put up in good time, well cooked and palatable, convenient seats, a nice speakers' stand—everything in fact they undertook was a success. The work, too, of the Committee on Reception was up to the top notch of perfection.

KINDERHOOK.

July 5.—Misses Myrtle Tinsley and Carrie Smith, of the Washington neighborhood, spent Saturday night in this vicinity.

Virge Stevens, of Daviess county, spent Saturday and Sunday in this vicinity, the guest of his parents.

J. L. Anderson, Owensboro, spent Sunday night in Kinderhook.

Richard O. Neel, Whitesville, was visiting in this community the first of the week, the guest of R. A. Anderson and family.

Miss Ollie Anderson is on the sick list at this writing.

W. H. Barnes spent Sunday evening in Kinderhook.

Mr. Carl Lashbrook, of Brown's Valley, and Miss Annie Hawkins, of Hartford, were quietly married at the residence of Caleb Crowe Saturday evening at 5 o'clock. Immediately after the ceremony they repaired to J. W. Stevens', of this place, where they partook of an enjoyable supper. Sunday morning they returned to the home of the groom where they will make their future home. May pleasure and prosperity be theirs through the rugged paths of life is the wish of

S. C. Stevens and E. L. Davenport have succeeded in establishing a Library here, with G. B. Liking as Librarian. The Library will be delivered the last week in this month.
If you want to hear something good, come to Hartford July 25th and 26th and hear Rev. Sam Jones on "Battle of Life and how to win it," and "The troubles of life and what to do with them."
Deputy Sheriff J. Burch Taylor, assisted by L. L. Stewart, arrested Henry Maddox at McHenry Saturday. Three years ago he was indicted for wounding with intent to kill. Maddox was placed in jail.
Mr. Carl Lashbrook, of Utica Ky., and Miss Anna Hawkins, of this city, were quietly married Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. Caleb Crow on Mill Street, Rev. G. J. Bean officiating. Mr. Lashbrook is a rising young farmer of Daviess county while the bride is one of Ohio county's most successful teachers. We wish them a pleasant voyage on the sea of life.

The new School Law requires Trustees to purchase a deal of new schoolhouse furniture.
Sam Jones will tell you when he gets here to always leave your horse at Casebier & Burton's stable.
Messrs. Morton & Lapoint are boring for oil on the farm of H. B. Taylor, near Beaver Dam. They have sunk a hole over five hundred feet deep.
Under the new School Law all districts whether they reported 45 pupils or not will have five months schools, so that teachers and Trustees will not be too hasty in closing contracts.
I am now located in the room formerly occupied by Williams Bros., where I will be pleased to have all cash customers call and get their Groceries, Hardware, etc., of the best quality and at rock bottom prices.
Rev. Sam Jones will Lecture at Hartford, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, July 25th and 26th. Subject for Tuesday night: "The Battle of Life and how to win it." Subject for Wednesday night: "The Troubles of Life and what to do with them."
Jack Hall, a desperate character, who has figured considerably in the criminal annals in the county, was lodged in jail Monday. He and Atton Holder were indicted last court for burning the Fordsville lock-up and he was wanted under this charge.
Reserved seats for the Jones lectures are going very fast. Persons desiring choice seats will do well to call at Williams & Bell's drug store and get them or send 75 cents to Williams & Bell or Rowan Holbrook, who will select good seats and forward tickets by mail.
Not wishing in the least to influence the public mind in regard to the inglorious attempt of the mule-beater and his cohorts to clean out the Republican office, we leave the matter to be first passed upon by the courts to-morrow, after which if deemed necessary we may have something to say.
That energetic young carpenter, Evan Cornelius, yesterday put in a neat piece of work for our big Campbell Press. A part of the wood work had broken and the replacing of it required great care. The job was quickly and neatly done and you can't tell but the work was put up at the factory.
At Seymour, Ind., last week, an eight-year-old boy who was stealing a ride on a street car fell and was run over, being almost crushed to death. This might serve as a warning to the boys here and at Beaver Dam, who, day after day, go on hanging on to the bus from both Field's and Casebier's stables.
On July 12-14 the family of Rev. E. M. Crowe will have a reunion at his home in Jeffersontown. All his children and several of his brothers are expected. Out of seven sons of his father's family six are or have been preachers and all four of Bro. Crowe's sons are preachers. Rev. R. A. Crowe will start Sunday morning.
Col. S. R. Dent, of the United States Life Insurance Company, is in town this week talking and writing insurance. Those wishing good insurance with a most pleasant agent will do well to remember Col. Dent and the United States. Many of Hartford's most careful and successful business men have policies with him.
Tuesday evening as Jeff Bell, of Buford, was returning from the Reunion he happened to a very serious accident. He was riding a young horse which became frightened and jumped off the last culvert on the far end of the levy, north of town. Horse and rider fell together, Mr. Bell having an ugly gash cut on his chin, his left elbow badly strained, perhaps fractured, and several teeth knocked loose. The horse was also badly crippled. "Mr. Bell was taken to his brother-in-law's," John C. Riley's, and Dr. E. B. Pendleton was summoned immediately. The wounds were dressed and on Wednesday Mr. Bell was able to go home. Had there been guard rails on the bridge, as there should have been, the accident would not have occurred.
Last! Between Macedonia Church and the widow Lanham's, in Ohio county, one sack of tub-washed wool. The finder will leave the same at this office and be rewarded. I also, sell the best patent bed springs.
Rev. Boone Dead. Rev. W. W. Boone, of Springfield, Mo., died at that place Wednesday evening after a very short illness. Three telegrams were received that day by his wife, who is at McHenry. The first stating he was quite sick, the second that he was worse, and the third that he was dead. He was a rising young Presbyterian minister and was in charge of a Church at Springfield. Last November he was married to Miss Ella Duncan, of McHenry, who came back in April to visit her mother at McHenry and her sister, Mrs. F. L. Felix, at this place, was taken sick and has not yet been able to return. Mrs. Boone telegraphed for the remains to be shipped there for interment and it is probable that they will arrive this morning and that the funeral will be held this evening or to-morrow morning at the Hamilton and McHenry Cemetery.
Hundreds of people write "It is impossible to describe the good Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me." It will be of equal help to you.

Notice.
To the Elders and Deacons of the various Congregations of Disciples of Christ in Ohio County, Ky., you are hereby earnestly solicited to attend a meeting of the Church at New Baymus, near Barretts Ferry, this county, on the 22d of July, for the purpose of inaugurating a co-operative movement between the various congregations to enable us to employ an evangelist for this county for one year. There will be a protracted meeting in progress at the above named date. Be sure to attend.
M. F. SHARP, W. W. LOYD,
For a pleasant ride to Beaver Dam, call on C. L. Field.
Prohibition Convention.
ARLON, Ky., June 29, 1893.
The Prohibitionists of Ohio county are hereby called to meet in convention at Hartford, July 21, at 10 a. m. Every Prohibitionist is earnestly requested to be present, as this will be an interesting gathering, it being the first convention of the kind ever held in Ohio county.
A candidate for the Legislature is to be nominated, which in itself should insure great interest among the Prohibitionists of the county, besides other important business will be transacted.
In the meantime, I will address the citizens of Ohio county at the following places: Select, July 10. Cromwell, July 11. Beaver Dam, July 12. McHenry, July 13. Rockport, July 14. Centertown, July 15. Green River Union Church, July 17. Buford, July 18. Fordsville, July 19. Rosine, July 20. Speaking beginning at 8 o'clock p. m.
Be sure and see C. L. Field's buggies and harness, before buying elsewhere.
We call the attention of our readers to the ad. of the Leavenworth Business College which appears elsewhere in this paper. The fact they offer to give instructions free to introduce their College shows that they have faith in their ability. This is a fine opportunity to gain a practical business education at home, and we advise our young people to investigate the matter and profit by it.
IMPORTANT!
I will be at Rochester, July 10th, to remain only a short time—will be prepared to do all kinds of Photograph work. I make a specialty of Cabinet Photos. I use the instantaneous process for making baby pictures. You will find me located in an elegant Photograph Car. A. D. TAYLOR.

Sad and Gloomy

Weak and Dyspeptic

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Strength and Perfectly Cured.

Dr. J. E. White
Birmingham, Alabama.

"I have not words enough to express my thanks for the great benefits received from a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was weak, and it made me strong; I was a dyspeptic, and it cured me; I was sad and gloomy, and it made me cheerful and hopeful. And last, though not least, it made me an ardent and working democrat. All who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla with my advice, report good results. I gladly recommend it to all sufferers. J. E. WHITE, M. D., Birmingham, Ala. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other brand. Insist upon HOOD'S."

Hood's Cures

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic, gentle and effective. Try a box. 25 cents.

FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1893.

WAS SHE?

Don't throw on the report of Hilda's Engagement.

"I believe that Hilda is engaged," remarked the girl with the ruffles on her skirt.

"Why, did she positively deny it?" queried the girl with the grass green gloves.

"Didn't ask her. I notice, though, that she thinks that every man that looks at her is in love with her."

"Oh! Well, you may be right. I have noticed that there is always a bunch of roses in her window nowadays."

"Yes, and she has begun to speak of Arthur as Mr. Smythe."

"Come to think of it, she does. He was there when I ran in to borrow her new skirt pattern the other day. I could see that she had been crying."

"Yes! I wonder why a man always looks so supremely foolish when he is first engaged—he always has a kind of an apologetic air."

"Perhaps he means to apologize to the other girls for not having asked them first," suggested the girl with the grass green gloves.

"Maybe. I notice that no one really takes any interest in an engaged man except perhaps the florist. It is different with a girl though."

"Isn't it? The fact that she is tickled 'taken' seems to add to a man's interest. Now, there was Julia—your remember Julia?"

"Yes, a plain little thing dressed in black—the man went wild over her."

"Didn't they? And all because she gave out that her heart was buried in the grave of the man she was engaged to."

"I remember the girls used to call her the 'brevet widow.'"

"Did you ever have a widow for a chaplain?" suddenly asked the girl with the ruffles on her skirt.

"No, why do you ask?"

"Because I have, and it is ever so much nicer. It saves you lots of mistakes, and besides she has no husband to confide in, so your little tricks are not in danger of being repeated to the other men before you have perfected them."

The girl with the grass green gloves rubbed her nose thoughtfully. "I believe you are right," she said. "I once had a perfectly lovely flirtation spoiled just because my chaplain's husband told the man that I blonied my hair every Friday morning."

"How perfectly horrid! And you had told him?"

"That golden hair was hereditary in my family and that I always spent Friday morning in the kitchen learning to cook."

"What a shame! Look! Here comes Hilda, and Arthur is with her."

"I see, and they seem to be quarreling desperately. Yes, they are undoubtedly engaged."—Chicago Tribune.

His Razor All Right.

If Colonel Buncum, who is president of the Erie County Savings bank, is more precise about one thing than another, it is his razor. He is so particular about it that he has almost come to the conclusion not to allow himself even to use it on his chin on Sundays. Buncum went off fishing a few weeks ago, and while he was gone the cashier, Bob Bangly, who was also his roommate, committed suicide. The colonel was asked by telegraph to return. He came back as fast as he could. Rushing to the bank, he asked in a voice husky with emotion of the vice president:

"Is it a fact that Bob Bangly has committed suicide?"

"Yes, he was buried this morning."

The blanched face of Buncum became more blanched than ever. His voice sounded unnatural as he whispered hoarsely:

"How did he do it?"

"Morphine."

"Thank heaven!" cried Buncum, with tears in his eyes, "my razor is safe, but I might have known it would be, for Bob was one of the most considerate of men. I shall always revere his memory."—Texas Siftings.

The Correct Thing.

"Who's that down stairs, Jane?"

"Some friends of mine, ma'am."

"But you had some friends yesterday, Jane?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"And on Monday night?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Don't you think you had better have a regular day at home each week?"

"Thank you, ma'am! That will be very nice!"—London Fun.

The Contents.

"I suppose you have your lunch in that market basket," said Hojack to Tomdik as they met in the World's fair grounds.

"No," replied Tomdik. "In that basket I carry the money to pay for my lunch."—Harper's Bazar.

An Idea.

"Oh—er—Jarvis, would you mind pretending to pick a quarrel with me and just giving me a push, you know? I want to test the pluck of this big dog of mine."—Tit-Bits.

Outo His Curves.

Loving Husband—Goodby, darling. Should I be prevented from coming home to supper I will send you a note by a messenger boy.

Trusting Wife—Not at all necessary, dear. I have already taken it out of your coat pocket.—Truth.

If the circus is to be taken seriously, what an era of dullness will follow. In a certain southern state a bill has been introduced into the legislature by the provisions of which circuses are to be forbidden in that state to exhibit pictures of feats which they do not perform.—New York Ledger.

How Japanese Armies Fought.

Before the westernizing of the war department of Japan a battle was frequently decided by personal encounter. It opened with a volley of arrows and a general engagement. Frequently the commanders of the opposing armies engaged each other in combat. Under these circumstances the retainers on either side stood by and gave no assistance beyond encouraging shouts and cheers to their respective chiefs.

When a general wished to engage the commander of the opposing army, he shouted out the name of his foe.

man, who responded in the same manner. While this was going on the armies simply slackened their efforts until at the end of the combat they were frequently spectators only.

The triumphant general decapitated his unfortunate enemy, and raising the head aloft claimed the victory. Sometimes a whole battle was thus decided, the soldiery having scarcely struck a blow or having really engaged at all. The army of the defeated general never tried to avenge their chief's death at the time or to retrieve his overthrow. Etiquette required that battle must be again sought at a favorable opportunity.—Cor. Chicago Times.

An Object Lesson.

"I find it pays to lend a man a dollar," said Bronson.

"Why?" asked Briggs.

"Well, if he pays up, you are square. If he doesn't, you find out what sort of a fellow he is at small cost."

"True," returned Briggs. "Ah—can you let me have a dollar for a day or two, Bronson?"—Harper's Bazar.

Haven't Invested Yet.

Stranger—What sort of a climate have you in New York.

Native—Well, we can hardly be said to have a climate yet. Up to the present we have been having samples under consideration.—New York Herald.

A Desirable Neighbor.

Mrs. Binks—That woman we just passed is the nicest neighbor I ever had.

Friend—Neighbor? Why, she didn't so much as glance at you.

Mrs. Binks—That's what I like about her.—New York Weekly.

The Only Way.

Day—There is just one way to get waiters who will not consider it a hardship to do without whiskers.

Weeks—What?

Day—Hire girls.—Truth.

Recognition.

Van Dyke—As the boat left the dock I waved my handkerchief, and then a curious thing happened.

Forney—What was that?

Van Dyke—The ocean waved back.—Truth.

Marked.

Husband—Well, my dear, there's one advantage in being poor.

Wife—I'd like to know what it is.

Husband—We don't have to pay $10,000 a year for house rent.—Detroit Free Press.

His Favorite.

Twyn—Bunting is very superstitious about numbers.

Triplet—Which is his favorite?

Twyn—He's always looking out for number one.—Brooklyn Life.

Drowned.

"I wonder why there are three sopranos in the choir now?"

"The bass singer's new spring suit was so loud that one couldn't be heard."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Tie Between Them.

"We are always particularly glad to see Pittsburghers here," said a Chicago man to a visitor from the Iron City.

"I am glad of that."

"Yes, sir; we are. There are peculiarities between the two cities. You know that Chicago is the great pork packing metropolis of the world?"

"Yes."

"And, as I understand it, Pittsburgh is the greatest producer of pig iron?"

THE LOVER'S LAMENT.

The gallant swains of long ago
Would greatly do and dare,
But now the brave can never show
That they deserve the fair;
I'd prove myself a doughty knight
If there were any one to fight.

I have no bolts and bars to burst,
To lay no fetters on the fair;
No hundred-headed snake to worst,
No Hellespont to swim;
Tasks such as these, in this my grief,
Would be a positive relief.

Her sire, who should be fierce and rude,
Should clank his spurs and cry
Curses on all who dare intrude
And for his offering sigh.
Is quite the mildest man between
The Marble Arch and Bethnal Green.

He has no spurs, he never swears,
Is neither dour nor strong;
But better versed in stocks and shares
Than in Arthurian song;
Refuses still himself to gild
Into the spirit of the thing.

He never asks of me to slant
His sleeve upon my target,
If he doesn't, you find out what sort of A fellow he is at small cost.
"True," returned Briggs. "Ah—can you let me have a dollar for a day or two, Bronson?"—Harper's Bazar.

The sands of civility are run,
The times are out of joint;
No bride can gloriously be won
At an umbrella point.
We have a deadlier foe to face,
Who conquers all—the commonplace.

Struggling With the Language.

"I wonder what became of my pen-knife?" said the new teacher in the kindergarten. "I am sure I left it on my desk."

"Ready Mulligan swiped it, mum," replied little Dennis Quinn.

"Swiped it?" asked the teacher, with a surprised infection in her voice.

"Yes, I see him."

"But what do you mean by swiped it?"

"Swiped it!" repeated Dennis, it now being his turn to be surprised.

"Yes. What is swiped it?"

"Swiped it? What on earth do you mean?"

"Why, he priggled it, mum."

"More inexpressible than that ever. Swiped, sniled, priggled! What on earth do you mean?"

"Why, he yanked it, you know," exclaimed Dennis, amazed at his teacher's failure to understand common language.

"Put it in his pocket, you know."

"Oh!" exclaimed the teacher, with a great sigh of relief, as she went after Reddy Mulligan.—Harper's Bazar.

The Rudder Done.

Inventor's Daughter (proudly)—You'd better play with me now all you can, 'cause we'll be rich soon, and then we won't recognize you.

Playmate—How is you going to get rich?

Inventor's Daughter—Pop has invented a rudder for flying machines.—Good News.

A Good Test.

Bishop—How are you succeeding here? Struggling Pastor—The standard of morality is rising gradually.

"I am glad to hear that."

"Yes, I am no longer obliged to demand cash in advance."—New York Weekly.

Just as She Expected.

As a junkman was driving up Hastings street a hind wheel came off his wagon and let the vehicle down with a crash, and the usual crowd gathered to observe, speculate and discuss. A well dressed woman who was passing by halted and asked a boy on the outskirts of the crowd what had happened.

"Well, you see," began the boy after drawing 's back of either hand across his nose and crumping up his shoulders, "the faster was a-come along here."

"There was a hole in the pavement, but he didn't see it."

"No."

"Just when he gets to that hole he spits on his hand like this, and hauls off like this, and he fetches the old hoss a stinger to wake him up. The hoss gives a jump, you know, just the same as you 'n me would."

"Yes, yes!"

"Then the flues collapse, the cylinder heads blow out, and the belts slip off the drive wheel, and I'm a-tellin you that this town might be bin all blowed to thunder if I hadn't been up there on the corner and hauled to Jimmy Day to come and see the fun!"

"Land o' massy, but I've been expectin' something of the kind all winter long!" exclaimed the woman as she ran over a boy and two dogs in her haste to get beyond danger.—Detroit Free Press.

No Slouch.

—Truth.

Gratifying.

Mrs. Quicklippe (furious)—I have no words to express my indignation at your conduct.

Mrs. Quicklippe (with a sigh of relief)—Well, there's one gratifying feature of the situation.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Good Idea.

"I think whistling should be taught to boys in school," said Harkaway.

"Why?" queried Barnum.

"Because if it was you couldn't get 'em to practice it outside," said Harkaway.—Harper's Bazar.

Care Needed.

"Never get into trouble with a barber."

"Why not?"

"He is liable to get you into an awful scrape."—National Barber.

Out of It.

Wife—I have just been to the dentist's and had a tooth drawn.

Husband (heaving a sigh)—Lucky tooth! It is now beyond the reach of your tongue.—Sobremesa.

It Tastes Good

One reason why Scott's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda has had such a large sale is because it is "Almost as palatable as milk;" but the best reason is that its curative properties are unequalled. It cures the cough, supplies the waste of tissues, produces flesh and builds up the entire system.

Scott's Emulsion cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Scrofula, and all Anemic and Wasting Diseases. Prevents wasting in children. Almost as palatable as milk. Get only the genuine. Prepared by Scott & Bowne, Chemists, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

DRUNKENNESS, THE LIQUOR HABIT Cured at Home in Ten Days by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee or tea, or a tumbler, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will afford a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate or a heavy drinker. It has been given in a thousand cases, and in every case it has produced the most perfect and permanent cure. The system once impregnated with the specific, it becomes an after-impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Cures guaranteed, 48 pages, bound, particulars from the publisher, Dr. H. H. HAINES, 1015 Broadway, New York, N. Y. Send 10c for a copy.

DEAFNESS, ITS CAUSES AND CURE.

Scientifically treated by an expert of world-wide reputation. Deafness, whether congenital or acquired, of from 20 to 30 years' standing, after all other treatments have failed. How the difficulty is reached and the cause removed, fully explained in circulars, with auditory and testimonials of cures from prominent people mailed free.
